A lovely solid bike track or walking track that meanders from the southern end of Coobowie along the rugged coastline to Edithburgh. Plenty of bird life and natural bushland on the edge of the cliff face, offering glimpses of the oyster farms and Troubridge Island in the St Vincent Gulf. Coobowie has now completed a bird hide and this is situated at the causeway offering views of birds feeding on the low water line in the Estuary. Bird identification brochures are available at the General Store and at the Caravan Park. 600 native trees have been planted and the area will be a beautiful natural habitat for the land and sea birds once these plants have established.
